PARTIE I

Ajabani Rabbus Sama I

1. The Lord of the heaven and the earth has answered me with that which has risen high; and from Him He has led to me the summits — and how excellent is what (He) has allotted to me!

2. He has saved me from the enemies: whoever transgressed has not made his way toward me; He has tamed for me whoever was hostile, and He has been for me and has magnified (me).

3. The Everlasting (al-Bāqī), the Generous, has extended to me the whole of what I desired from Him — and gratitude to Him is what I desire — and He has thrust away whoever grew arrogant.

4. The Everlasting, the Ancient (al-Qadīm), has honoured me in that I am the servant, the Khadīm (the Servant); and He has bestowed on me that which endures, (me) holding fast to His rope.

5. To Him (goes) my discourse, (I being) thankful; and He has made good (my) acts of thanks, (making me) a servant most thankful, remembering; and through my abiding (in life) He has preserved (me).

6 To me He has led His immense favour, and has led to me the well-strung pearl; and He has been for me with (a gift) immense, and to me He has led graces.

7 He has answered me through the Most Sublime (Name), in prose and in verse; He has thrust away whoever is full of arrogance, and He never ceases to be Bestower of grace.

8 He is the God and the Self-Sufficient (aṣ-Ṣamad), Who raises the heaven without pillars; and He has already spared me grief, and He has been for me and has honoured (me).

9 He has taken away what He did not approve for me, through the service of the Preferred One (al-Mufaḍḍal, the Prophet); and He has been for me with the best, and has led to me munificence.

10 He has taught me the Wise Remembrance (adh-Dhikr al-Ḥakīm); toward Himself the Wise (al-Ḥakīm) has led me; He has made (things) easy for me — and what an excellent Wise One! — He has instructed me and made (me) understand.

11 My Lord has softened hearts for me; He has bestowed on me (His) favour as (pure) milk; He has led hearts to Him through me, and has kept for me what (He) has held hidden.

12 His sciences have guided my heart; He has brought to me aspirations that appeared, which have become with me a gift that guides whoever did not know.

13 My wrong has been effaced without trace; I have passed beyond the trial of the Spider (its frail webs, Sūrat al-ʿAnkabūt); my life spends its noon and its night (as) a ladder toward the Gardens.

14 An Everlasting One who leads fair things to me has made me master of the light of the tongue; and for me He has made the tongue upright, and to me He has led the well-established (Book).

15 Allah, the All-Aware (Al-Khabīr), has instructed me and has led to me the great reward; He has thrust my adversary into the oblivion of the past, He has guarded me and made (me) arbiter.

16 I have cast away what has drawn away from me, (for) Him Who has led to me length of arm (might); and for me He has illumined the natures, and He shows me no pain.

17 The Everlasting has called me toward His Garden rich in bounties; and from Him He has led bounties to me, and He has already taught my breast.

18 Allah, the Appreciative (Ash-Shakūr), has brought me back to my place of return with gratitude, for the service of the thankful servant, and for me He has made the natures good.

19 He has cleared me of the accusations, has bestowed on me what was hidden, has kept me from illusion, and for me has protected my life.

20 The blessing of al-Māḥī (Muḥammad), the Friend (of Allah), light of Rabīʿ al-Awwal, has driven away the fabricators of lies; and whoever refused him has been broken.

PARTIE 2

Ajabani Rabbus Sama 2

21 The month of Fasting (Ramaḍān) leads to me what puts to shame (all) striving and vigil, and (what is) above the reward of one who keeps vigil, with an Ancient One Who has brought (me) forward.

22 The blessing of Rabīʿ (al-Awwal) has come to meet me, removing from me the condition of one sold (to the enemies), on behalf of the month of an Everlasting One rich in abodes: what struck (at me) has not made its way toward me.

23 My Lord has demolished for us my harm — and what an excellent Lord is ours! — and He has led to me what He built for me, and has removed the countless host.

24 Whoever showed hatred toward me in time has turned toward others than me; and Allah has led security to me, and the toil of my life has come to an end.

25 The Everlasting, the Beautiful (Al-Jamīl), has come to meet me with what inclines toward no other; and to what is other than my life (goes) obscurity; and whoever hated me has been deprived.

26 My Lord has taken away (from me) the condition of one sold, in Ramaḍān and in Rabīʿ (al-Awwal); every week grows good for me, and the one who envies me has not been honoured.

27 No fighter has made his way toward me: Allah fights on my behalf, and He it is Who breaks my condition of one sold; whoever sought my harm has been destroyed.

28 No one who would afflict me has made his way toward me, and (all my) life I am a worshipper of my Lord; Iblīs does not afflict one who has been made inviolable for the Gardens.

29 The Lord of the heaven and the earth has honoured me with an honour that has risen high; and what (He) has allotted to me has yielded to me, and my harm has been cut off.

30 The gifts of my Lord, Possessor of perfection, lead my whole being with beauty; and He Who through me raises the learned has led to me the most blessed of riches.

31 Shield of my heart against heedlessness, safeguard of my light from setting: (so) has al-Māḥī (Muḥammad), the guarantor, been for me; and to me he has led protections.

32 I have worshipped my Lord, the Generous, with a worship that does not cease; and to me what I desired (He) has led, and my life He has preserved.

33 I worship my Lord in the dwellings, and He has been for me with good things (leading) toward the Gardens of (many) dwellings; and He has been for me and has brought (me) forward.

34 Straying has not made its way toward my heart, and (He) has been for me with limpid water; no infirmity makes its way toward me, and I am not found in regret.

35 He Who made the heart good for me has honoured my person for the Gardens; and He has led to me, with munificence, glad tidings for those who came before.

36 The Everlasting, the Preserver (Al-Ḥafīẓ), has protected me; for me He has illumined meaning and word; my life keeps His remembrance; I have been preserved from whoever did wrong.

37 Allah, the All-Knowing (Al-ʿAlīm), has led to me, beyond what was desired, sciences; the wrongdoer has turned toward others than me, and before that he had surrendered.

38 I have led my ink and the reed-pens to Him Who protected me from blame; and for me the most excellent of words has removed the darkness from me.

39 I praise the Originator of the heavens and the earth with a praise that has risen high; and for me what He has allotted to me (He) has led, and He has given me the summits.
