284 And bless, O Benefiter, and grant peace upon the Prophet whose guidance is well known,

285 our master Muḥammad, the Family and his Companions, in the present and in the final outcome.

290 And grant me benefit and grant me affection, and be for me with what greatly gladdens.

291 And bless, O One, and grant peace upon him who effaced harm and the darknesses,

292 our master Muḥammad, the Family and his Companions, in the present and in the final outcome.

293 And bless, O Eternal Refuge (Aṣ-Ṣamad), on my behalf, perpetually, and grant peace upon the Prophet Aḥmad,

294 his Family and his Companions; and drive out what You do not love for me, that it may go out toward others than me.

295 And bless, O Subtle, on my behalf, forever, the Prophet and Messenger Aḥmad,

296 his Family and his Companions; and protect me from harm, and honour me with (fulfilled) wishes.

297 And bless on my behalf, O Subtle, with peace, him whom the pens gladden on my part,

308 And lead to me the knowledge of the people of righteousness, and write, without removal, my success.

309 And efface the turning of misfortune toward me, and meet all my adversities together with effacement.

310 And bless, O Subtle, on my behalf, with peace, him through whom You granted me speech,

311 our master Muḥammad, the Family and his Companions, in the present and in the final outcome.

312 And grant me today, without deprivation, forever, what I ask and beyond what I seek.

313 And bless on my behalf, O You Who make the hard easy, him through whom the journey has reached its end in You,

318 And guide all of me on the straight path, and make my little an abundance that does not perish.

319 And bless, O Loving, on behalf of my person, him whom I have praised at length,

320 our master Muḥammad, and grant peace; and guide me, love me and teach me.

321 And bless, O Peace (As-Salām), on my behalf, with peace, him to whom go my prayer of blessing and my peace,

322 our master Muḥammad, the Family and his Companions, in the present and in the final outcome.

323 And efface from me all that I have written that was not Your good pleasure: from it I have repented.

324 And bless, O Subtle, O Forgiving (Al-Ghafūr), him through whom the averse grew gentle,

325 our master Muḥammad, and grant peace; and through my compositions give the learned their rulings,

326 his Family and his Companions; and expand my breast through him, O my Sovereign, that it may be expanded (Qur'ān 94:1).

327 And bless, O Subtle, and grant peace upon my means of approach to You, my ladder,

328 our master Muḥammad, the Family and his Companions, in the present and in the final outcome.

329 And grant me today (fulfilled) wishes that last, O You to Whom belong the granting of preference and of precedence.

330 And efface together, today, the calamities of my exile, and gather for me what I have been pleased with.

331 And bear witness to my repentance from all my calamities, and from the harm of my turning (elsewhere).

332 And efface, O All-Aware (Al-Khabīr), all of them that is manifest and all that is hidden, entirely.

333 And bless, O King, and grant peace upon him who effaced harm as well as pain,

334 our master Muḥammad, the Family and his Companions, in the present and in the final outcome.

335 And protect all of me from the harm of subjugation, and from the harm of Satan and of kings,

336 and from the harm of what You have created or will create, O best of those who protect me and set (me) free.

337 And bless, O Loving, and grant peace upon the Prophet, the hope of every Muslim,

338 our master Muḥammad, the Family and his Companions, in the present and in the final outcome.

339 And fulfil the hope for me forever, and through him accept from me the secret and the open.

340 And bless, O Most Generous, and grant peace upon the Arab Prophet, the banner,

341 our master Muḥammad, the Family and his Companions, in the present and in the final outcome.

342 And grant me exegesis and recitation, and grant me fine elocution (tajwīd) and sweetness.

343 And through him make my writing honey-sweet, and through him efface my adversities, washed away.

344 And from the hearts of those who have thought ill of me, drive out, by grace, what I have detested.

345 And bless, O Accepter of repentance (At-Tawwāb), with the most perfect blessing, and grant peace upon him whose loftiness I make manifest,

346 our master Muḥammad, the Family and his Companions, in the present and in the final outcome.

347 You have widened for me a spaciousness in which others than me holily envy me; You have illumined my abode for me.

348 And bless, O Peace, with peace, the Prophet possessed of well-known loftiness,

349 our master Muḥammad, the Family and his Companions, in the present and in the final outcome.

350 And grant me safety and well-being, and make my life a clear life.

351 And bless, O Subtle, with peace, the Prophet who removes reproach,

356 And write for me today the glad tidings of the Book, without effacement, ever, nor reproach.

357 And toward others than me turn the adversities, O Able One Who is never reluctant.

358 And grant me what You have chosen for me among the sciences, without wandering: truly You are the Enricher (Al-Mughnī), the All-Knowing.

359 And bless for me all movements and stillnesses, and make them blessings.

360 And make, by the standing of the Chosen, my habits, out of generosity, like the work of the masters (of the path),

361 and make, by the right of Your noble Countenance, O Giver of favours and of honour,

362 these letters equal to all the blessings upon the Prophet, O Answerer of supplications.

363 Āmīn, O Lord! And make my life great, and in You, through the Chosen, make all of me flourish.

364 And bless, O King, O Answerer (Al-Mujīb), him by whose standing You answer,

365 our master Muḥammad, and grant peace, to the Family and the Companions; and teach my heart.

366 And grant me inspiration and excellence, and make honey-sweet the tongue and the reed-pen.

367 And make my writing dearer to the Prophet than the writing of others, and (dearer) to You, O Beloved.

368 And through my speech heal the breasts of the believing people (Qur'ān 9:14), freeing them from reproach.

369 And through my compositions illumine the hearts of those who seek knowledge in every age.

370 And bless, O Most Generous, perpetually, him whom You chose and guided, and he rose high,

371 our master Muḥammad, and grant peace, to the Family and the Companions; and raise my words for me.

372 And raise my letters with thanks and acceptance, and make Satan and his host despair of me (Qur'ān 7:27).

373 And bless and grant peace perpetually upon the Prophet and Messenger Aḥmad,

374 his Family and his Companions; and grant me that to which the noble aspired before me.
