PARTIE 1

Mafatihul Jinan 1

1. I have loved the Lord of the worlds, together with the Trustworthy (Gabriel) and the Trustworthy (Muḥammad),

2. and His faithful remembrance has yielded to my breast and my body.

3. I have conversed intimately with the Lord of the mighty Throne, with love, together with well-strung pearls;

4. and He has been for me with (a gift) immense, and has guarded me from my enviers.

5. My Lord, the Refuge, has directed my heart to the Oneness of the One,

6. and has not entrusted me to anyone, in my journey and in my land.

7. Toward me He has led, in the journey, my intimate friend and my beloved (Muḥammad), with triumph,

8 making me free of need of people, by His hosts, within my soul.

9 No challenger has come against me, and the outpouring of my Lord is manifest:

10 Iblīs does not challenge the host of the Mighty (Al-ʿAzīz), the One.

11 None who opposed has come against me, nor he in whose heart is a sickness,

12 and for me my Lord leads, in the aim, what is not denied.

13 Allah has been for me with what keeps (water) clear and cool

14 tomorrow; and for me (He gave) sustenance with what He led, and the best of ease.

15 The gift of Allah, the Helper, has driven the accursed (Satan) toward others than me,

16 and today, through me, Allah helps whom He wills, and (so) tomorrow.

17 Allah has extended to me the glad tidings, by the standing of the master of mankind,

18 and for me He has spread His blessing; I have not turned toward what does not profit.

19 Allah, the All-Knowing (Al-ʿAlīm), has taught me of what He wills among the sciences,

20 and has repelled my adversary with wounds, so that he went away in chains.

21 I have conversed intimately with my Lord, the Generous, with writings that do not cease,

22 their lights; and for me Aḥmad desires the best of gifts.

23 Allah, Lord of the worlds, has blessed the Guide, the Trustworthy (Muḥammad),

24 in the (celestial) Assembly of the perfected, on behalf of our spirit and body.

PARTIE 2

Mafatihul Jinan 2

25 He has opened an opening (a victory) such as was never seen and never will be seen,

26 for him who made my life good pleasure, He Who perpetuates my glad tidings.

27 The best of those who give lodging (Qur'ān 23:29) has led to me, through the best of the Messengers

28 and through the most perfect Companions, the service of the best of mankind.

29 My religion is the love of Allah together with the love of him who subdued the enemies

30 for me; and for me He has gathered the wishes, without harm or turbidity.

31 He has driven toward others than me error and what leads to infirmity

32 He Who, toward the Gardens, with the lawful, has led me by the Decree.

33 He has made clear my permanence, my being servant of the One Who makes abide, my help,

34 through him by whom He perpetuated my guarding from what troubles.

35 The Everlasting, Who teaches the hidden things, has repelled misery and faults

36 toward others than my person; and (my) intimates (lit. pockets) were guarded from turbidity.

37 My Lord has demolished the edifice of my harm: and how excellent is our Lord!

38 And from Himself He has increased our nearness, a nearness of good pleasure and generosity.

39 I ask Him for gratitude toward Him, and He has led to me His remembrance,

40 and toward others than me He has driven His stratagem, and guarded my sanctuary.

41 To Allah my praise with gratitude: truly He is the Guide (Al-Hādī), the Appreciative (Ash-Shakūr), 42 and has guarded me from reproof and from what draws punishments upon me.

43 To Him I have devoted my life, and He is the One Who grants me long life, 44 without a harm that prevails, nor causes of sickness.

45 Toward others than me He has repelled every harm, and it was repelled;

46 and through me He shows whoever has read the best of the middle of the road.

47 He has guided — He Who made my life good pleasure and granted the choice (of good) —

48 him whose heart was bewildered in Allah, He Who perpetuates my glad tidings.

PARTIE 3

Mafatihul Jinan 3

49 I have given into the possession of the most excellent of mankind (Muḥammad) that from which glad tidings never cease,

50 and He has spread for me His blessing, and led me with generosity.

51 The benefit of the chosen Prophet has driven toward others than me what one guards against,

52 and has led me, with the fear of Allah, as I headed for the Sanctuary.

53 It gladdens the best of the Messengers, with the most beautiful Companions

54 and his perfected Family, the serving of him with my pen.

55 The reward of the beautiful has come to meet me in the service of the effacer of obscurity (al-Māḥī, Muḥammad),

56 and my services incline to him, (I being) freed from pain.

57 I have given all of myself into the possession of Aḥmad for years, and he has led to me the arts (of knowledge), 58 and has guarded me from moaning and from what draws sickness.

59 Toward others than me (is driven) the falsehood of the heart; my speech does not tend to doubt,

60 and Allah has veiled my secret and guarded me from punishments.

61 The tongue of my remembrance, with gratitude, has pleased my God, the Appreciative,

62 and reproof does not come toward me, and I am not the accused.

63 Toward me my Sovereign has led the removal of the darknesses:

64 I illumine the heart of the wayfarer with the manifest and the hidden.

65 My Lord has made my foot firm through the Chosen, the Foremost,

66 and has guarded me from regret and from what draws the darknesses.

67 I have banished Iblīs, the accursed, through Allah, my Lord, the Helper,

68 toward another direction than mine; and Allah, through me, helps whoever seeks learning.

69 My writing leads the disciple (al-murīd) to the Able, the Everlasting, the Willing (Al-Murīd), 70 driving away every rebel (marīd) toward others than the one taught (by Him).

71 Our Prophet has effaced harm, (turning it) toward others than my person, and peril,

72 and the sparks do not come toward me, by the guarding of my Lord, the Most Generous.

PARTIE 4

Mafatihul Jinan 4

73 The Real, the Manifest (Al-Ḥaqq al-Mubīn), has extended to me what appears to creation

74 and what does not appear to others than me, of glad tidings and favours.

75 I have preserved (by heart) His precious Remembrance, and He has bestowed on me (a gift) precious,

76 and my wish is not hard for the All-Powerful, the Bestower of favours (cf. Qur'ān 14:20).

77 The kingdom of Him to Whom existence belongs leads to me the most excellent bounty, 78 and for me has made the night vigils (of prayer) an answering with favours.

79 The kingdom of the Most High, the Everlasting, the Eternal, has made me the most radiant servant

80 of him to whom belongs an enduring merit, and has guarded me in (my) services.

81 My pens and the ink have called, to thank my Lord, an affection

82 for Him, and affection for him who is possessed of rectitude, our Prophet, the Foremost.

83 There yields to me, without end, from Him in Whom my journey has reached its end,

84 what my heart has desired, together with the good pleasure of the Possessor of eternity.

85 My Lord has sent sickness away toward others than my person, with the aim (fulfilled).

86 None who opposed with disputation and accusations has come against me;

87 no contender has come against me, for he contends with passion,

88 and for me my Lord draws out a remembrance that removes illusion.

89 My Lord has preserved His Remembrance through me, and I perpetuate gratitude to Him,

90 and for me He perpetuates His joy, with His hidden secret.

91 The blessing of the accepted Intercessor puts the cannon to shame,

92 and all that does not profit it has driven toward others than my aspirations.

93 He leads me toward the Gardens (al-jinān) Who has illumined my heart (al-janān),

94 (with) joy and clarity, with munificence, without harm or griefs.

95 The Real, the Manifest, has blessed me in what appears to His creatures

96 and in what appears to none but the Essence of the Bestower of favours.

PARTIE 5

Mafatihul Jinan 5

97 I have stretched my hand to Allah through the Chosen, the Supported,

98 and He has led me with what most profits, and has been for me with generosity.

99 The Lord of the heaven and the earth has benefited me with a benefit that has risen high,

100 and has led to me what He apportioned for me, with munificence.

101 Toward me my Lord has led a grace that increases my nearness,

102 by the standing of the best of the Prophets, our Aḥmad, the honoured.

103 No cause of infirmity has come against me, nor wrath, nor error,

104 and He Who honours me with the greatest has led to me the best of the lawful.

105 The praise of the chosen Prophet has driven toward others than me what one guards against,

106 beforehand; and has led to me the fear of Allah, with a magnified good pleasure.

107 The service of the best of the worlds has driven toward others than me whoever lies,

108 and through the Trustworthy (Gabriel) and the Trustworthy (Muḥammad) I have triumphed, without pride.

109 No unbelief has come against me, nor depravity, nor idolatry, nor 110 what draws false attribution of words; and Allah has raised my pen high.

111 The Nourisher (Al-Muqīt) has guarded my person; the times have not headed for my harm,

112 and for me He leads the best nourishment Who has guarded me from the darknesses.

113 My writing gives thanks to the Lord of the mighty Throne with well-strung pearls,

114 and there has yielded to me an immense secret from His Tablet and the Pen.

115 I have conversed intimately with my Lord for years, and He has led to me the best of supplications,

116 and I see neither those who moan, nor what draws pain.

117 My sale (of myself) the Generous has accepted at a price that does not fade (cf. Qurʾān 9:111),

118 and He leads to me what I long for: knowledge without learning.

119 My miracle is the writing of my hand, in the service of the Supported one (Muḥammad),

120 and Allah, the Bestower of generosity, has been for me with what most profits.

PARTIE 6

Mafatihul Jinan 6

121 The guidance of my God has removed what grieved me, removing it,

122 and has drained the well of my ignorance, a draining that removed my darknesses.

123 My heart has filled with knowledge, and my adversary has withdrawn apart;

124 and I have already turned away isolation, overcome by peace.

125 An Enricher Who pours out the lawful for me has driven error toward others than me, 126 and infirmity does not come toward me, nor the causes of pain.

127 The gift of the Everlasting, the Nourisher, leads to me the most profitable nourishment,

128 and I have become the delight of the times, through my work and my words.

129 Toward me the Lord of creation has led, giving into my possession the bracelet (cf. Qur’ān 43:53), 130 and for me has illumined my heart, freed from pain.

131 The sickness of the body does not come toward me, nor aversion, nor envy;

132 in him (the Prophet) my merchandise has not gone unsold, in sale or in advance sale (salam).

133 The Everlasting has led the price to me, and for me has made the time good,

134 with acts of nearness and with security, through His Chosen one, the ladder.

135 He has blessed and granted peace, without end, Who has accepted

136 my life, upon him who let down my (protecting) veil and raised my pen high.

137 My writing, effacer of sloth, gladdens the best of Messengers,

138 with its honey-sweet secret, bearing glad tidings, unwounded.

139 He who encompasses the comprehensive words (Muḥammad) has called my ink and the pens

140 to what removes darkness from the believer and the Muslim.

141 I have refined a writing that has in no way turned toward other than my Lord,

142 and truly I show the middle of the path of my Lord, the banner.

143 The enabling grace of my Lord has drained the well of idle talk, and it was drained,

144 and toward others than me has removed every misery and darkness.

PARTIE 7

Mafatihul Jinan 7

145 The best of Messengers has rejoiced in my honey-sweet writing,

146 and has guarded me from sloth, effacing my turbidity from me.

147 The best of Messengers leads to me, of the beautiful, the best of (granted) requests,

148 and He Who makes the Decree and Destiny run does not drive the base toward me.

149 I have raised all of myself for years, an exile, what a suspected (man)!

150 before; and I have won the arts (of knowledge) from my King, the All-Powerful.

151 He has cleared me of accusations Who guarded me from illusion,

152 and has bestowed on me what was hidden of His veiled Unseen.

153 He protects me from creation Who has led the sūras to me,

154 and has illumined my heart, and protected me with walls.

155 Allah, the All-Knowing (Al-ʿAlīm), has taught me of what He wills among the sciences,

156 and no wrongdoer has come toward my person, nor the harm of the troubler.

157 Allah is the best of those who heal, who guide and who lift (harm),

158 and from Him healing has come to me from every decreed ill.

159 Error has not come toward my heart, nor infirmity toward my body,

160 and the remembrance of my Lord, Possessor of Majesty, is against the enemies like Ḥaydar (ʿAlī).

161 Iblīs has fled complaining, toward others than me, weeping,

162 since my writing became the wounder of every foolish deceiver.

163 The accursed has turned away, fleeing, and (his) back has gained a sore,

164 and toward others than me he has turned, with his plotting and (his) babble.

165 Whoever challenged me in this time has turned away toward others than me,

166 and the Everlasting has led security to me, with the clarity of the Decree.

167 Idolatry does not come toward my breast, nor does falsehood come toward me

168 in my speech; I have no doubt of my protection from turbidity.
